Upcoming 05 December 2019 SBMS Meeting

SoCal SBMS members have said that their favorite times in the meetings are the breaks, when they get to talk with the others in attendance and get to know newcomers. This enables us to learn from each other's experience, gain valuable insights, and find out the finer details of Amateur microwave projects others are building. This has been the theme for the past few Decembers and we will continue the tradition again with the ...

The SoCal SBMS Pre-Christmas Gourmet Pizza Feed & Microwave Gift Exchange

In addition to the gourmet pizza selections from “Blaze Pizza” in Eastvale, CA, there will be a Microwave Gift Exchange where attendees bring a functional microwave device to give to another lucky attendee. The gift must be wrapped and have real value; no broken parts or non-functional units. This gift can be off your workbench or new, 1.2 GHz through light wave. Gifts should be small enough to carry in one hand; no TWTs, power supply or antennas please.

November Microwave Activity Report

Rein – W6SZ and Robert – KM6RXN were on the Amateur 10 GHz band for the home-to-home X-band network the evening of Wednesday 06 November.

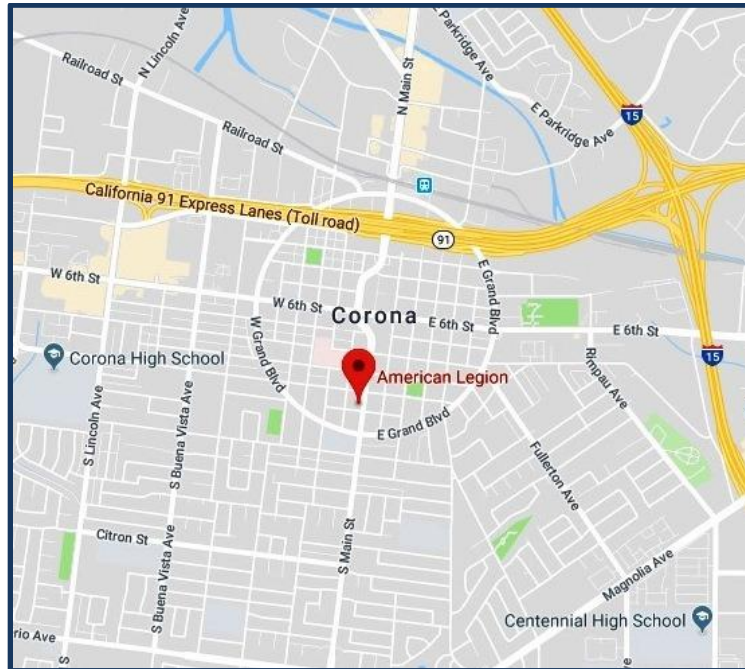

November 2019 Technical Presentation – Amateur Microwave beacons

At the November SBMS meeting, attendees heard a recap of the Microwave Update Conference held in Dallas, TX. They also engaged in an interactive discussion about amateur microwave beacons. Special thanks to Courtney – N5BF, Mel – WA6JBD, and Dave – W6DL for their contributions and for getting the discussion going in the right direction.
